

15 cards each Pile up Rules

2 – 7 players

(Medium level)

Choose a player to deal the cards. Dealer shuffles the whole pack and deals out 15 cards to each player face down. Then the final card is placed in the centre face up for all players to see, this is the “Play pile.”

Each player then takes the top 3 cards. Moving the remaining 12 to the right for later play, this will be called the “Ready to play deck.” If the player wants, they can shuffle their own cards without viewing before the game begins. Dealer then roles the dice.

The player to the left of the dealer starts the game by placing any relevant cards in consecutive order on top of the “Play pile” from their “Cards in play.” H for Highest numbers going up or L for Lowest numbers going down for the landed colour. Then replenish their “Cards in play” to 3 cards from their “Ready to play deck” and then rolls the 2 dice. The player can then lay down more of their “Cards in play” on to the “Play pile” in consecutive order. Once this is done their turn has ended, replenish their “Cards in play” ready for when it’s their turn. Now it’s the next player to the left turn.

For example:

Dice rolled is R Red + H Highest

Card facing up is a 4 Red.

The player can place down any of their 3 cards that are higher than 4 Red in consecutive order upwards on top of the “Play pile.”

If the card on the “Play pile” is already at it’s Highest [9] then the die is reversed, becoming the [1] Lowest. The same applies for the Lowest card [0] and the die becomes [6] Highest.

Players can place cards down when it’s their turn before rolling the dice. Meaning they can place down a maximum of 6 cards in total in consecutive order if they’re lucky.

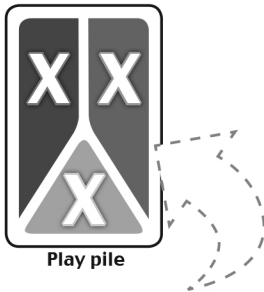

If a triple number card is place down onto the “Play Pile,” the player can then choose a different colour, but can also take a refill of their “Cards in play” from the “Ready to play deck” and play those cards too. This means they could place down more than 6 cards.

If triple number card 0,0,0 is played the player can then work upwards on the “Play pile.” Where as if triple number card 9,9,9 is played the player can play downwards on the “Play pile.”

This is repeated until one player has all their cards placed down on the “Play pile” and declare themselves the winner.

If only 2 or 3 player try 30 cards each at the start of play.

15 cards each Layout

Play pile

Cards in play

Players
Ready to play deck

For more rules go to www.keycreations.co.uk